HEAVY FIRE IN NEW YORK.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—One of the largest fires for some time past in this city took place this morning. The fire was discovered in the stables of the Eighth avenue horse car railroad, and notwithstanding that within five minutes after the discovery fully forty streams of water were turned upon the blazing building it was only when there was nothing further for the flames to feed upon that the firemen obtained the mastery. The stables were in a four story brick building fronting on Eighth avenue and 49th and 50th streets. Almost before a movement to save stock in the stables could be made the flames burst simultaneously from windows on the 50th street and 49th street sides. Horses stalled on the upper floors were untied and run down the incline plane to the ground. There were nearly 800, and the work of getting them out was one of great difficulty and danger. Blinded by smoke and frightened by flames they kicked and reared, and over one hundred had to be abandoned to destruction. Their piteous whinnying could be heard above the roar of the flames. The three upper floors were one vast sheet of fire. Two brick buildings, one a liquor store and the other a restaurant, cut into the stable building on the corner, were saved. In the stables an immense quantity of hay in bales was stored. When these caught on fire the sudden bursting of the bars that bound the bales, caused an explosion that shattered the side of the building and threw the brick wall into the street. It fell with crushing force upon a ladder upon which were Chief Campbell, Fireman John Welsh, and firemen Henry C. Mount and John R. Egan. Each and all were buried beneath the smoking mass, and a shout of horror went up from the spectators. Their comrades instantly fell to the work of rescue, and soon all were recovered, bruised, bleeding and insensible. Mount had his skull and leg fractured, and was also injured internally. He died an hour afterwards in the hospital. Egan had a leg broken and was badly cut. Chief Campbell and Foreman Welsh were painfully but not seriously hurt, and remained on duty. Hardly had the firemen and spectators recovered from the excitement caused by the falling of the wall when it was rumored that a fireman had fallen into the burning building, but the muster of companies later showed all the men were present except those taken to the hospital. Soon afterwards the walls on Fiftieth street fell with a crash. The loss is estimated at about $250,000; insurance $270,000.

The Case of the Crown vs. Davitt, Irish Agitator

SLIGO, Nov. 25.—The court to-day was again crowded with spectators. Killen and Davitt appeared cheerful and fearless. Monroe, queen's counsel, said that if he could prove the utterance of Davitt's alleged words, that the "manhood of Ireland should spring to its feet and say it would tolerate landlords and landlordism no longer," the magistrates would be bound to commit him. Police evidence was called to prove their utterance. Davitt, who had been occupied all morning preparing a written defense, before commencing to deliver it protested against Monroe's remark that he had already experienced the clemency of the crown, and declared that he was innocent of the charge of which he was convicted in 1870. Daily, since his release from jail, complains of his treatment while in prison. Monroe in the course of his remarks said that Davitt is probably the most dangerous of Irish agitators, and especially pointed to his language comparing the Zulu assigar to the Irish pike. Davitt then began the cross-examination of witnesses.

There is some fear of a riot as municipal elections are being held and the mayor is very unpopular. One hundred and twenty soldiers are under arms in the barracks and 100 additional police are in readiness. All the western districts are strongly garrisoned.

THE NORTHWEST.

Western Oregon.

A barn in Oakland, Josephine county, was recently burned by the spontaneous combustion of clover put in the barn in an uncured condition and covered over with marsh hay. The explosion of the "combustication" was heard a mile and a quarter away.

Mr. S. B. Smith, of Clatsop, writes as follows: From one pound of triumph potato, planted about the middle of May last, I obtained a yield of eighty pounds. In planting I cut the potatoes, leaving one eye in each piece and put two pieces in a hill.

On Sunday last the body of a man was found on Sand Island. The features were not recognizable. The body appeared to be a man of about five feet ten inches in hight, and about 180 pounds weight; wore navy blue blouse and vest, flannel shirt, brown cassimere pants, barred stripe, diagonal, fine boots about No. 7. The body was buried by orders from Major Morris. Tracks in the sand around the body showed that some person had been there since the body came up. One pocket was cut out of the coat, and one cut out of the pantaloons. The other pockets were turned inside out, or nearly so. In the breast of the shirt was found a small gold pin, with white stone setting in black enamel.

Miss Mary A. Robinson has tendered her resignation as principal of the academic department of the Willamette University. The trustees of the university have decided to abolish the department, as having no proper place in a school claiming the grade of a college—a step that has long been urged upon them by friends of the institution. This movement severs only the primary class of that department—a class that it was impossible to properly classify. The upper classes of that department now take rank as the first and second preparatory classes of the college. The Statesman reports that the organization of the university was never before so complete and systematic, and the work of instruction never more thoroughly done than by the present faculty headed by President Lambert, while the large attendance is most gratifying to its patrons, who had feared a decrease because of a change in its administration.

The new mill at John Day is rapidly nearing completion. It will have two run of excellent burrs that will be operated by a water head of about forty-five feet. The pen tube is twenty-one feet long, and extends into the water in the pit about twenty-one inches.

There will be a meeting of the citizens of Grant county at the Ingle school house, at Mt. Vernon Dec. 1st, for the purpose of getting the sentiments of the people in relation to the building of a woolen factory and to effect a permanent organization for that purpose.

Burglars entered the gun store of A. Schumacher at Walla Walla last week and stole 20 good pistols and $10 in coin.

Ten thousand bushels of wheat were threshed on the Asotin this season. The yield was from 25 to 50 bushels per acre.

Prices at Dayton: Eggs per doz [illegible]; butter per lb [illegible]; cheese [illegible]; potatoes per [illegible]; onions, [illegible]; flour per bbl, [illegible]; wheat per bushel, [illegible]; barley per cwt, [illegible]; oats per cwt, [illegible].

Going to Egypt for Cotton.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The Times has the following: The Odessa correspondent of the Novoe Vremya says that about a dozen of the most eminent Russian cotton manufacturers have lately gone to Egypt to buy enormous quantities of the raw material, and hire all the largest plantations on the banks of the Nile. The chief aim of these merchants, who are stated to be conjointly worth 20,000,000 roubles, seems to be to shake off the yoke of the English and Liverpool market, but all the produce of Egypt will not suffice to meet the wants of the Russian cotton factories.

Contested Cases.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—The contested election case of the state senatorships for the 5th district began to-day before Justices of the Peace Joachimsen and Pennie. The first case taken up was that of M. O'Connor against C. C. Conger, the latter being the workingmen's senator-elect. The case of Thomas Prindar vs. W. W. Taylor, the republican senator elect, was continued until to-morrow. A partial hearing only was had in the former case.

A Brutal Assault.

Thomas McGrails, No. 10 Jesse street, while mad with liquor this morning, knocked his wife down and attempted to stamp her to death. When rescued she was so badly kicked that her life is now despaired of.

A Victim of Stock Gambling.

A man named Rosenzweig committed suicide probably by poisoning at the Mermaid Baths, at North Beach, this afternoon. He obtained a room and bathing clothing and went into the water a few minutes. Mr. Mohair, the proprietor, saw his body floating in the water. It was immediately taken out and every effort at resuscitation made. A strong smell of laudanum came from the nostrils, and it is supposed that he had taken the drug. In his pocket were found letters from several stock brokers, calling upon him for more "mud" by to-morrow at 11 o'clock. He was a boot and shoe dealer on Dupont street.

Bonanza Mackey Won't Give the Half Million.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Yesterday's sensation on Pine street was a story told by one Harlich or Horseflesh from Virginia, Nevada, that John W. Mackey offered Colt Deane half a million dollars to uncover the three suppositious bonanzas, and that Deane had consented to make the effort if Mackey reduced his offer to writing. Deane and Con O'Connor, James C. Flood's agent, were both interviewed last night and denied the story in toto. It has since been found out that the funny man from Virginia is by profession a practical joker, and the whole thing an invention of his own.

The Yazoo Policy in San Bernardino.

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 25.—There was quite a little stir here last night among the boys of our town. A young man by the name of Louis Herman has been soliciting subscribers for books for A. L. Bancroft & Co., of San Francisco, and has been making himself very obnoxious to the business community of our town by inquiring into everybody's business; and the young men thinking it about time to stop such nonsense, caught him last night about 9 o'clock and rode him on a rail for a distance of a mile to the outskirts of the town and told him never to return again. Although it is reported that he has returned this morning, the boys say they will give him another dose to night if he does not leave.

CARE OF HORSES.

[F. G. in the Country Gentleman.]

Mr. Wm. Horne says: "History shows that after ten years old, all things being equal, horses are capable of the greatest performances. A horse bred sound, and properly used, should be in his prime at about twelve years of age. * * * The worst age for a gelding is five years old; he is thinner, weaker, and more liable to disease, than at any other age, according to my long practical experience."

I am glad to see this recorded, as it agrees so exactly with my own observation and experience. The majority of the owners of horseflesh are not aware of the great amount of service a horse is capable of rendering, if properly treated. Instead of giving out at about fifteen years old, he may be made to do good work twice that number of years. If a mettlesome animal, all of his powers will be employed, and his muscles are liable to be unduly tasked when young, resulting in soreness and stiffness and constitutional hurt. Some horses are thus treated habitually. They are of course short lived, and a loss to the owner, yielding but a small profit on their keep, and a loss of the original cost. Such are the extreme cases. But take the general run, and we find more or less of straining, occurring not often, but occasionally, as necessity seems to require. It is thought that occasional effort of this kind will not result in harm, or at least not seriously. It is not considered that the harm is all the greater, the strain more disabling in its effect, on account of the rareness of the occurrence. Serious results are thus occasioned with high-strung animals. Now the excess of work thus secured is very little, and of little value—in no way proportionate to the harm. Not unfrequently the work is expedited by lessening the load and going oftener.

Here is the error: The benefit derived from violent efforts (if any there be, which, on the whole is doubtful) is far out of proportion to the loss sustained in the animal's capacity, and the shortening of his years. This is so much the case, that the horse at fifteen years has become a condemned animal, having passed out of market. And yet at this age, if well treated, he is still in his best condition for service. The mare usually arrives at her maturity sooner than the gelding, say at six; while the gelding requires a year or two more, continuing to spread out and develop his strength till his eighth year. From colthood up to this time, he requires careful treatment, if a substantial, serviceable animal is to be made of him. And this attention is not to be intermitted, but continued, to keep good what was made good, which can now be done with little trouble. Avoid the temptation of seeing the capacity of your horse for endurance or moving heavy loads, put to the test. By doing this, you will further avoid putting your horse into a highly sweating condition, so plentiful of evil in its consequences. An even tenor produces an even and unimpaired appetite, with less tendency to developing ailments.

Horses are abused, and the abuse is wide-spread and common. Much of this is owing to ignorance; much, also, to the temper of the owner or handler of the horse. Could the aggregate loss in consequence be seen, it would make one stagger, to say nothing of the inhumanity.

The Jubilation of the Yazoo Fellows.

(From the Vicksburg (Miss.) Herald (Ind. Dem.)

The people of Yazoo are so enthused they find it agreeable to congratulate Judge Cowan, who was a candidate for the senate in this county. We had decided not to mention the facts as we knew them touching the senatorial election in this county, but as the telegram of the Yazoo fellows is more intended to rebuke the editor of the Herald than to congratulate Judge Cowan, we have no mantle of silence to spread over the Yazoo election. We advise the Yazoo fellows not to waste their enthusiasm in other counties, for by the time they get through with the [illegible], the supply will run short. They should instantly begin to dance around, pat themselves on the stomach, giggle and hug and kiss each other about the Silver Creek precinct. The solid triumph at that poll almost surpasses the coup d'etat on the streets of Yazoo City, when Dixon was defeated by eleven votes [illegible] in his back, some two months before the election. The ballot-box returns from Silver creek were peculiarly Yazooish. There was some 600 majority there for the independents and this majority was represented by a ballot-box which was returned to Yazoo City that contained two pens and an inkstand.

BOOK NOTICES.

This book is one of the new volumes of the series of "English Men of Letters." Some twelve years ago John Morley published a monograph on Edmund Burke which critics have regarded as the most discriminating essay on the illustrious British statesman that has ever been called forth as a memorial of his genius and character. It was a philosophical rather than a biographical production, dealing more in discussion than in narrative, and employed with the illustration of principles rather than with the recital of incidents. The present volume, on the other hand, is devoted to a succinct but complete biography of Mr. Burke, exhibiting the events of his life in lucid order, and furnishing a natural and expressive portraiture of a strongly marked, original and highly endowed individuality. In the introduction to the memoir, Mr. Morley briefly refers to the differences of opinion in regard to the character of Burke. He has been extolled by the tories as the savior of Europe, and detested by the whigs as the destroyer of his party. One writer has represented him as the most profound political philosopher that ever existed in the world. He is described by another as a splendid rhetorician, but not a deep and subtle thinker. A third insists that his works contain the most powerful defense of the British constitution, while another declares that they are full of inconsistencies and contradictions. Finally, he has been called the greatest thinker, with the single exception of Bacon, who has ever devoted himself to the study of English politics. But a sufficient interval, says Mr. Morley, has elapsed to allow the sediment of party fanaticism to fall to the bottom. We are now enabled to judge how far he was the imposing pamphleteer of a faction, and how far he was a contributor to the universal stock of permanent wisdom. Opinion is gradually settling down to the verdict that Burke is one of the most abiding names in English history, not because he either saved Europe or destroyed the Whig party, but because he added to the treasures of wise political thought, and the maxims of judicious practice in great affairs, imprinting himself upon the mind with a loftiness and magnificence of expression that places him among the highest masters of literature and thought of all the ages.

To us the most interesting part of Mr. Morley's book is his discussion of the position of Mr. Burke toward the French revolution. Every student of Burke's writings knows that from the first he looked upon the proceedings in France with infinite distrust. He had not a moment of enthusiasm or of sympathy of which to repent. From the first he espied the looming shadow of a terrible catastrophe. Nobody recognized so early as Burke that France had embarked among cataracts and boiling gulfs. The pith of his earliest criticism was that to separate freedom from justice was to steer the ship of state into the terrible vortex. "It is impossible to deny," says Mr. Morley, "that this was true. Unfortunately it was a truth which the wild spirits which were then abroad in the storm made of no avail." The composition of the 'Reflections' was of slow growth. The great rhetorical fabric rose gradually. Mr. Burke revised, erased, wrote and rewrote with incomparable diligence. He lingered busily over the manuscript, pen in hand, constantly amending paragraphs and phrases, antitheses and apothegms. Its publication was instantly followed by a remarkable effect. On both sides it precipitated opinion. "The great army of the indolent good, the people who lead excellent lives and never use their reason, took violent alarm. The timorous, the weak-minded, the bigoted, were suddenly awakened to a sense of what they owed to themselves. Burke gave them the key which enabled them to interpret the revolution in harmony with their usual ideas and their temperament." The excitement was as great among the ruling classes on the continent of Europe as it was at home. Louis XVI. is said to have translated the book into French with his own hand. Mr. Burke's strictures on the levity and precipitancy of the first set of actors in the revolutionary drama, the author affirms, are ratified by history. But he judges the revolution as the solution of a purely political problem. The question, however, was much deeper. It was a social problem that burbed under the surface of merely external arrangements. Burke did not comprehend this side of the subject. He saw the dangers of the new system, but he had little perception of the more cruel dangers and disorders of the old. He did not look the state of things steadily in the face. His imagination broke loose. His practical reason was mastered by something that was deeper in him than reason.

It was a singular trait in the character of Burke, Mr. Morley suggests, that with all his practiced sagacity, there was a certain mysticism in his ideas about governments and communities. To him there was an element of mystery in the cohesion of men in societies, in political obedience, in the sanctity of contract, in all that fabric of law, and charter, and obligation, which is the bulwark between civilization and barbarism. No one can read Burke without being impressed with the truth of these observations as to the habits of his mind. The mysticism everywhere appears. At the same time it impresses the reader as a glimpse by a great seer of profoundest truths; and Burke's manner therefore often strikes us by its similarity in this respect to certain great depths in Shakspeare. It is a test of a man's greatness that a century after his time he is still growing, and growing to the stature of the few really colossal figures in the literary and intellectual history of mankind.

[Cincinnati Enquirer, Dem.]

Whose head, if any, stands higher above the democratic wreck than Tilden's? Whose devoted poll can be distinguished above the debris in Ohio? Has any democratic nose been seen pointing out of the heap of states which went undeniably republican on Tuesday last? These be questions to solemnly consider before the writing of the political epitaph of Samuel Jones Tilden.

A Wholesome Fear of Consequences.

[Vicksburg Herald, Dem.]

There is some talk in this state in favor of our legislature selecting our next presidential electors and that they be instructed to cast their votes for Mr. Tilden. Rather than see this done, we prefer to see them sell their votes to the highest bidder and turn over the money to the superintendent of public instruction for the benefit of the public schools.

Trying to Get Away from the Record.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The World hopes that in the coming session of Congress democrats will dismiss the three questions which were uppermost at the extra session, namely, the test oath for jurors, the military at the polls and the Davenport law. The writer, in concluding the article, says: What need or occasion can there be, as there can hardly be any natural opportunity, for a further democratic agitation of any of the topics which were uppermost during the extra session?"

The Election in Yazoo.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—A correspondent writes to the Tribune, showing how the election was carried in Yazoo county, Miss. There was no voting after 11 o'clock in the morning. The correspondent says: Every time a negro would come up to the gate the bulldozer would demand of him to show his ticket; if he showed an independent ticket he was knocked down. They went on in this way until about 11 o'clock, when Jake Holder gave a signal and all drew their pistols and commenced firing in the air. The negroes all ran off, and of course there was no more voting.

Wheat Plants Threatened with Destruction.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Reports from Southern Indiana and some places in Kentucky say that the wheat plants have been attacked by the Hessian fly in a way that threatens the destruction of the crops. The larvæ of the fly are found in the stalks of the healthiest plants. Farmers think they will winter safely in their retreat, and come out in the spring to begin their ravages upon the fields. Tufts of wheat pulled up in many widely separated places reveal the same condition of affairs.

Government Estimates.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The printing of the detailed estimates for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1881, has been completed. The estimates of amounts required for expenditure under the war department aggregate $29,321,794 for the military establishment, and $7,557,831 for public works of various kinds, including about $5,000,000 for river and harbor improvements, $1,000,000 for sea coast fortifications, $744,000 for buildings in and around Washington, and $857,000 for the arsenal. The cost of the naval establishment is estimated at $14,509,148. The estimates for the Indian service foot up $4,992,846; for foreign intercourse, $1,185,135; for salaries and expenses of collectors of internal revenue, $4,075,000; for expenses of mints and assay offices, $1,209,510; for salaries and expenses of the treasury department proper, $2,661,672; for the interior department proper, $2,146,774; for deficit in postal revenues, $7,712,000; for construction of new light-houses, beacons, and for signals $674,000; for new government buildings throughout the country, $2,247,000; for judicial salaries and expenses of courts, $3,250,000; for pensions, $32,044,000; for the salaries and expenses of the two houses of congress, about $2,800,000; for salaries of president and vice president and expenses of the executive office, $97,464; for expenses of the tenth census, $2,750,000. The grand aggregate of the estimates is $136,347,129. The total amount appropriated by congress for the current fiscal year was $162,404,648, which included $25,000,000 for arrears of pensions and about $13,000,000 for the District of Columbia. No estimates for either of these purposes are submitted in the book of estimates this year.

A Chance for Chicago Young Men.

(From the Chicago Tribune.)

Miss Yocum, a school teacher of Kittitass valley, Washington territory, has taken up a land claim, fenced it, built a house upon it, and this year raised 612 bushels of grain, besides attending to her duties as teacher. Now, if Miss Yocum will get her life insured and make suitable provision for the support of a husband, several young men in Chicago will buy tickets to Kittitass.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, N V [illegible] 187[illegible]

HOW THE BOOM WORKS

In every department of trade of all kinds in all the [illegible] the eastern states. The increase has passed [illegible] a natural and healthy rise and the tendency is rapidly taking the direction of a speculative movement. Notwithstanding their recent experience with the reverses of hard times many people seem to be tending again towards the [illegible] of inflated and booming prices. Again men are beginning to manifest an intemperate haste to grasp wealth through the seductive and illusive methods of speculation. Prices generally have been advanced from forty to sixty and in some cases one hundred per cent. In a recent number the Graphic New York devotes a page to detailed statistics of the advance in the values of stocks and in the selling prices of iron and steel dry goods of all kinds clothing, hardware leather goods and nearly all the lines of merchandise. Already there has been a crash in the stock market and the revulsion in general business will surely follow. Warning the public against the delusive aspects of the present boom in trade the Chicago Tribune proceeds to show that prices are excessive and can not be maintained. There is a limit to the means of purchase, and the more excessive prices become the less of necessity will be consumption with the decline of consumption over production, which means the manufacture of goods for which there is no sale takes place labor must be discharged stocks on hand must be sold out at a loss and the boom must recede in exactly the proportion that it is now in excess of the legitimate and substantial demands of trade.

Our interests on this coast are, in every direction affected injuriously by the speculative tendency of business and the great rise of prices in the eastern states. Here we are not manufacturers to any considerable extent and as we are obliged to buy in eastern markets prices are "set up" on us, with no chance of gaining on our part any corresponding benefit. The system of protective tariffs comes in to add to the inequality and oppress us still further. Our agricultural products sell for no more in consequence of this inflation of the prices of general merchandise in the eastern states, and we are shut out by "protection" from the benefit of foreign markets. Were it not for the tariffs, which are virtually prohibitory, we should now have in our waters a large number of vessels from foreign countries with cargoes of railway materials and other commodities needed for development of our country and for general consumption and these vessels would be ready to take return cargoes of wheat. The number of vessels here would be so considerable as to reduce materially the rates on wheat to Europe, and the farmer would receive perhaps twenty-five per cent. more for his wheat than he can get now. At the same time clothing, hardware, leather goods, and the whole line of articles needed for consumption here would be sold at lower prices. Thus we should make a gain both ways. At the same time we should get our railroads built for much less money and they would be able to carry at cheaper rates. Removal of the oppressive tax from grain bags would leave just that much more in the hands of the farmer, and our people, keeping the great sums extorted from them for the benefit of eastern monopolists, would thrive and prosper. As it is, whatever gain the country makes is made against and in spite of these heavy drawbacks and excessive exactions.

Under this system five-sixths of the people of the country are made to pay enormous tribute to the other one sixth. Since the great rise of prices, which is aided and supported by "protection," this fact is more apparent than ever. The system could no be more effective if it were openly declared by law that one half the proceeds of the labor of the western and southern states should be paid directly to certain classes in the eastern states. This would only be a form of legalized robbery no worse than that enforced under the present system, but in some respects better, because it would be open and direct, and quite free from all manner of false pretenses.

SIGNIFICANT INCIDENTS

In political circles at the east and south quite a sensation has been produced by the action of certain influential politicians of Georgia, taken since the recent elections in the northern states. Dr Felton, who represents the seventh district of that state, has written and published an elaborate letter in which he takes the ground that the democratic party received its death on the 4th November, that the verdict of the north and west is too emphatic and decisive to be misunderstood, and that sensible men of his state at least have made up their minds to sever themselves from it. He says the result of the northern elections is the old story repeated; he denounces the course of the northern and western democrats for unloading everything upon the south, and blames them for all the political misfortunes which the south has suffered. Northern democrats, he says, promised to stand by the south on the issue of secession, but the promise was never fulfilled and the south to day is suffering from the consequences. A similar promise of support was given by the democratic leaders from the north and west in the recent session whereby the south was again led to believe that it would be sustained in any movement it might make against the republican party yet how this promise was fulfilled the recent elections demonstrate. The attempted political legislation of the last session, he declares was not the attempt of the south, but of the northern democrats, but though the south did not lead in the movement it has to bear all the blame. He says that the independent movement is now in progress all over Georgia, and that he thinks it altogether probable that the next congressional delegation of the state will be controlled by that element. There is no intelligent man in Georgia, he asserts who has watched the course of events since the extra session who does not ridicule the idea of the democratic party electing the next president, and he announces to his constituents that he will no longer attend the congressional caucuses of the party. Dr Felton is, next to Stephens the most influential man in the Georgia delegation and is now serving his sixth term in congress. He has been for four years a member of the committee on ways and means and has always taken an active part in the business of legislation. He has always been noted for independence of action and has in some instances offended his democratic [illegible]. He failed in receiving the regular democratic nomination in his district at the last election but ran as an independent and was elected by an overwhelming majority. [illegible] the last session he was [illegible] it was well known that [illegible] approve of the democratic plans [illegible] he and Stephens were looked upon with [illegible] eyes by orthodox democrats [illegible] action is [illegible] from the fact that he is [illegible] Stephens and [illegible] is leader. The democrats [illegible] are now split into two factions [illegible] Senator Hill and the other [illegible] and his friends. This internal [illegible] the democratic camp is the opportunity of the independents who are organizing in every county in the state and [illegible] take an aggressive campaign at [illegible] election. A coalition with the republicans [illegible] also [illegible] of as a means [illegible]

overcoming the present democratic preponderance. As Stephens is the leading [illegible] in the state and their probable [illegible] it is easy to see what [illegible] has moulded the fiery ardor of [illegible] even to the degree of smiling upon the [illegible]. All this may [illegible] the break of a [illegible] the chain of the solid south before the election next year but [illegible] the Georgia politicians have [illegible] of democratic success [illegible] presidential votes and therefore are of opinion that they may as well take care of their own interests and settle the [illegible] affairs among themselves while [illegible] latter.

A Washington [illegible] to a [illegible] of [illegible] charge of front by the democrats on the financial question which has been [illegible] about in the [illegible] political [illegible] since the Ohio election. The story is that the managers of the national democracy convinced at last by the defeat of Gen Ewing of the folly of coquetting with the rag baby have determined that the financial policy of the party shall be absolutely revolutionized and that at the next national platform shall favor the absolute retirement of the legal tender greenbacks and the discontinuance of the issue of paper money in any form by the government the free coinage of gold and silver and the modification of the national bank system by the abolition of the legal tender reserve and the requirement that all reserve and redemption funds shall be maintained and all bank notes redeemed in coin. This would indeed be a radical change of front but it would avail little since a party which shifts about in this manner without real attachment to any conviction or principle never gains real strength. Its voters can't keep up with its movements.

Twenty four members of the Virginia legislature recently elected are republicans and it is believed that they will hold the balance of power in that body. Should this prove to be the case the representatives of the dishonest debt [illegible] cause in the Old Dominion may not have things entirely their own way after all. It is earnestly to be hoped that the twenty four republican members of the legislature will join the debt paying members in the commendable work of preserving the honor of the state.

There is a new Northern Pacific bonanza in the shape of vast beds of coal in the Yellowstone country. At a distance of about 130 miles from Bismarck the grade of the road cuts through a bed of coal fourteen feet thick. Evidences of the existence of this coal over a wide area are in sight. Where the grade cuts the vein the coal can be loaded on the cars from each side at nominal cost. The discovery is a great thing for the country and for the road.

Minnesota next year will hold a great celebration in honor of the two hundredth anniversary of the discovery by Father Hennepin of the falls of St Anthony. The celebration will be conducted under the direction of the historical society of the state.

The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV. 26, 1879.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—12:30 A. M. For the Pacific coast regions, generally clear weather, light rains possibly north of California.

RIVER VIEW CEMETERY.—A vast amount of work has been accomplished at the River View cemetery grounds just above the Red House on the macadamized road. A large force of laborers has been engaged since August in felling and cutting up trees and in various other preliminary work and the grounds are now ready for the more delicate work of the landscape gardener. The location—convenient from the city—yet retired, rough, and well drained and commanding a magnificent full view of the city and river for miles above and below, and approachable by a road at all seasons—is the best that could possibly have been selected, and the spot is destined to rival in grandeur and solemn beauty any cemetery in the United States.

TAYLOR ST. M. E. CHURCH FAIR.—The fair given by the ladies of the Taylor street Methodist Church commenced last night at Good Templars' Hall, corner of Third and Alder streets. The hall was invitingly decorated with flags, banners and evergreens. In the center of the room is a large booth containing many tastefully worked toilet and fancy articles very tempting for purchasers. A business men's lunch will be served from 12 o'clock to-day, and the bill of fare will include warm roast duck. A lunch will also be prepared for the benefit of those returning from the concert at New Market Theater to-night. The fair will continue until 12 o'clock Saturday night.

SERIOUSLY INJURED.—A man whose name could not be ascertained met with a severe accident Monday, while watching the bark [illegible] which is moored at Flanders' wharf discharging ballast. The large iron bucket used in hoisting the ballast swung round after having dumped its contents, and struck violently the man, who had foolishly attempted to pass between the heap of ballast and the side of the vessel. The bucket struck him a terrible blow on the back which felled him to the ground, where he lay for some seconds unconscious. His bruises are severe, but no bones are broken. He would have been killed had he been struck on the head with the same force.

PROGRESS ON THE WEST SIDE RAILROAD.—The grading on the westside road is now completed to Corvallis; ties have been laid to the Luckiamute river, and a sufficient number have been forwarded to the front for the entire distance. The ship Eliza McNeil, from Philadelphia, bearing enough rails to finish the road, has arrived at Astoria, and part of her cargo will be lightered to this city without delay. The ship also brings a 32 ton Baldwin locomotive, and some frogs and other supplies. Barring unlooked-for delays and accidents, the people of Corvallis can treat themselves a Christmas ride on the cars within the limits of their own town.

ARRIVED AT ASTORIA.—A dispatch from Astoria yesterday states that the steamer Geo. W. Elder arrived there at 4:30. The steamer will not leave for Portland until this morning. 1:30 P. M.—Ship Eliza McNeil, from Philadelphia, arrived at noon; steamer State of California arrived down at 1 P. M., and left at [illegible] P. M.

[illegible] P. M.—Steamer Geo. W. Elder, from San Francisco, arrived 4:30 P. M.; will leave for Portland in the morning.

NEW DEPOT HOUSE AT ALBANY.—The O. & C. R. R. Co. have nearly finished a new depot at Albany to replace the Company's building which was destroyed by fire last July. It will be ready for occupancy in about two weeks, but as yet has not been painted. The building will contain the ticket office and baggage room, and W. U. telegraph office. The approximate cost of the building is $7000.

ARRIVALS FROM CALIFORNIA.—A small party of emigrants are encamped just outside the city limits, having just arrived after long and tedious marches from the southern sections of Southern California. They are in good spirits after their long journey, and what is more remarkable, their teams are in prime condition. The scene is suggestive of the toilsome times of "early days."

REPAIRING THE LOSSES.—The occupants of the store corner of Third and Morrison streets which was drenched Monday night were busy yesterday in getting their goods and rooms in shape, and having their losses adjusted. Victor Volney's loss is heavier than that of the others, and will probably reach $800. The buildings will be repaired and business resumed without delay.

INJURED.—Mr. P. Moran, steward on the [illegible], met with an accident a few days ago in his room on board the steamer, by falling against an earthen wash-bowl with such force as to break the same, cutting an ugly gash in his thigh. The wound was a bad one, though not serious, will prevent his attending to business for some days.

NEW POWDER HOUSES.—Messrs. Corbett & Macleay are putting up a new powder house on the macadamized road about four miles from the city. This is the second in the vicinity, and another is being built west of the city. What becomes of the immense amount of powder brought to this city and sold is a mystery.

POULTRY FAIR.—The first annual exhibition of the Oregon State Poultry and Pet Stock Association, to be held in this city, will commence on the 8th of next month and continue five days. Persons desiring to exhibit can obtain premium list, rules, etc., by addressing W. S. Falling, Portland.

REMOVED TO GOLDENDALE.—Mr. B. F. Saylor, brother of Dr. W. H. Saylor, returned last night from an extended trip east of the mountains. He has purchased a drug store at Goldendale, and will lay in additional stock here. He will leave for his new home with his family early next week.

TO-NIGHT'S CONCERT.—The attendance to the debut of Miss DuBois as a public singer at New Market theater to-night promises to be larger than was ever before gathered there on a similar occasion, every desirable seat in the dress circle and parquette having been taken.

A SMALL DISASTER.—Yesterday morning the wagon of a charcoal freighter broke down just at the bend of the macadamized road beyond the point formerly occupied by Weinhard's brewery. The wagon was a most a complete wreck, but the cargo escaped damage.

WINDING UP.—We are requested to say that members of the Grant reception committee will meet at the council chamber on Friday evening next at 7 o'clock to close up the business of the committee. A full attendance of the committee is requested.

NEW BUILDING.—Capt. E. E. Sorensen has nearly completed a two story frame building 30x50 feet, near the river bank at the foot of Fifteenth street, which will be occupied by him as a boat building establishment.

TO BE REPLACED BY STEEL RAILS.—After this date, such portions of the track of the O. & C. railroad as from time to time become broken or worn out, will be replaced by steel rails instead of iron as heretofore.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—This afternoon the public schools of the city will be dismissed and will not open again until next Monday morning. This is to afford the children an opportunity to enjoy Thanksgiving.

STRUCK A ROCK.—The steamer John Gates struck a rock while descending the Umatilla rapids Monday morning, and stove two holes in her bottom. She stuck for two hours and was pulled off by the Almota.

WHEAT AND TURKEYS.—The A. A. McCully and City of Quincy brought down heavy loads of wheat and a large lot of thanksgiving turkeys yesterday.

Go to Good Templar hall.

CLOAKS! CLOAKS! CLOAKS!—Just received, invoice of 500 cloaks on the steamer from New York. We must sell those we have on hand at once. Enormous reductions: $10 cloaks for $7 50, $15 cloaks for $10 50, $7 cloaks for $5. They MUST go at once. I. X. L. Auction Co., 172 First street, between Morrison and Yamhill.

The Chicago Times contains only 12 columns of solid minion and nonpareil of the Grant reception in that city. We can only add that the entire force of the Times must have done some tall rushing for that day.

COURT NOTES.

No United States courts to-morrow.

County court has adjourned for the term until next Monday.

The case of State of Oregon vs. Wong Fook, indicted for murder, was on trial in circuit court yesterday.

The case of State of Oregon vs. John A. Carr, indicted for bribery, will be called up for trial in the state circuit court Friday morning. The case will probably require two days to be tried.

District Attorney Caples, Judge Bellinger, Sheriff Norden, County Clerk J. A. Smith and all the other attaches of the state circuit court, have just as good a right to carve the Thanksgiving turkey as anybody else. Such being the case there will be no circuit court to-morrow.

In the matter of the application for a guardian in the case of Patrick Norton, an alleged insane person, Judge Rice appointed Mrs. Catherine Norton guardian of said estate. Mrs. Norton has filed bonds in the sum of $6000.

Application for the appointment of a guardian in the matter of Mrs. Lavina Naylor was made some days ago by A. N. King and Isaac Barnes. In response to the petition Mrs. Naylor was cited to appear before Judge Rice. About twenty witnesses have been examined for the purpose of determining the question as to whether or not Mrs. Naylor was competent to conduct her own affairs. After hearing testimony and the argument of counsel, the matter was taken under advisement by Judge Rice.

THE WALKERS.

At the New Armory hall last evening the seventy-two hour go as you please contest between the military companies came to a close at 10:30. The following is the score:

Campbell, 194 miles.
Sheridan, 186 miles.
Dougherty, 175 miles.
Tuttle, 163 miles.

Commencing at 8 o'clock was a ten mile go as you please exhibition walk between Miss Susie Wiley and Miss Grace Florence. Miss Wiley distanced her fair competitor in a handsome manner, completing ten miles in 2 hours 35½ minutes. Miss Florence made the same distance in 2 hours and 43 minutes.

This evening a very attractive programme will be offered, consisting of a challenge walk (go as you please) between Mr. Geo. W. Lee, of San Francisco, and Teddy Smith, of Portland; $100 a side; distance, 100 miles.

There will also be an exhibition walk by Miss Von Berg (the long distance champion), Miss Susie Wiley and Miss Grace Florence, the quarter mile pedestriennes, who have a record of 1537 quarter miles in 1537 quarter hours.

AMUSEMENTS.

FOR THE POOR.—To-morrow evening a literary and dramatic entertainment will be given at New Market Theater for the benefit of the suffering poor of Ireland. On this occasion an excellent programme will be presented. Rev. P. F. Gibney will deliver a short lecture on the "Landlords of Ireland." Following the lecture will be an original poem written for the occasion by Mr. R. C. White, and read by that gentleman. The entertainment will conclude with the favorite Irish drama "Ireland As It Is." Thursday afternoon a matinee performance will be given for the same purpose, on which occasion "Peep O'Day" will be presented.

HARD WOOD TREES.

A NEW INDUSTRY WHICH MAY BE GROWN WITH PROFIT BY FARMERS AND OTHERS.

Repeated and thorough tests have proved that oak and other firm grained woods of this country are not so hard as the woods of the eastern states and not sufficiently strong and tough to endure the heavy and continued service required in wagons and various implements made of wood. Generally we find native the many varieties of trees where are the conditions favorable to the growth, but in this instance the principle fails. We have in Oregon the soil, climate and every natural circumstance favorable to the nourishment and sturdy growth of hard wood trees, but not the trees themselves. Experiments in every part of the country have shown that trees of any kind, once planted, grow rapidly, even more so than in their native soil, and, what is more important, lose nothing of their natural strength and fineness of fibre under the new conditions. Only a few days ago a paragraph in THE OREGONIAN reported that in twenty years a walnut tree on the place of the late General Zeiber, in Marion county, had grown from a nut to the height of thirty feet, was eight inches in diameter and straight as an arrow. A grove of trees like this would readily bring $10 each. Slips planted around a farmer's fields would grow without care, and 15 or 20 years from the date of planting would sell for a fortune. A prominent dealer in hardwood timber, who is thoroughly familiar with the subject, and has given it thorough consideration carefully counting the cost, said to an OREGONIAN reporter yesterday that no investment equally certain and safe would pay the same handsome profit as timber culture; and that no crop a farmer could plant would cost him so little, either in money and labor outlay, or the use of land, would bring equally rich returns.

SAMUEL NEWMAN.

"Died—In Newburyport, Oct. 11, 1879, of consumption, Samuel Newman, aged 64 years, 1 month and 3 days."

This announcement brings more than a touch of sadness to many in this city who knew Mr. Newman well. He was engaged in business here for about ten years commencing in 1858. Although in active employment, he was a man of rare intellectual attainments, of various and full reading, and extensive travel and observation. He had a kind heart and a noble nature. Full of resources of thought in himself, he rather withdrew from general society and made himself fully known to the few whose good fortune it was to become his associates and among whom he shone as a "bright, particular star." Without ostentation, without a shadow of hypocrisy, the very soul and embodiment of honor and honesty, loving "the beautiful and the true," he quietly but efficiently performed his part in life among us. Although his instructive discourse and genial nature will not again cheer and delight his old companions, yet they will cherish the memory of his virtues and ever recollect him as one of whom it might well be said, "He was the noblest work of God."

"THE GREATEST OF THESE IS CHARITY."

Ladies of the Relief Society would remind those who are kind enough to fill the Thanksgiving bags for the Home that they will be called for, so far as possible, the day before Thanksgiving, and if ready at that time it will greatly expedite matters. Should any be overlooked they will be called for during the week, if left at either of the following places: Hacheney & Bene, First and Yamhill; Lambe, corner Second and Washington; Wm Wadhams', Front and Pine; Stewart's, corner 1 and Park, and southwest corner of Jefferson and Eighth. Any preferring to give money can hand it to any officer of the society. There are now 24 children at the Home, and more furniture and bedding are still needed.

Mr. Malarkey will have at this season of the year, as he has had for the past six years, a full supply of all kinds of poultry and game. Call round and make your selections early.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.—The musical community, both here and throughout the state, will be pleased to learn that Messrs. D. W. When these additions are received their stock will be the largest ever carried by any house on the North Pacific coast.

WM. SCHEFFLER'S ST. HELENA

Mr. Scheffler is sole proprietor of the principle known as the vacuum process of distilling, by which the fusil oils are left with the residue and not incorporated with the brandy, leaving it pure and free from all deleterious substances which does and must exist in all alcoholic liquors distilled by the usual process of boiling heat. California Physicians have pronounced their preference of it to all other. Doctor Cox, government revenue officer at Cincinnati, Ohio says in his report, that after ten years of close investigation he can safely say that very few, if any, pure wines or brandy are exported from the Old Continent to this. He has found none in his many analyses—that all are doctored before leaving France. The French Consul at Buenos Ayres writes home to his government that so much complaint is made there of the appearance of, large and other dangerous drugs in all their French wines, that there is great danger of losing the trade of the Argentine States. Other proofs could be cited were it necessary, to prove the superiority of the best class of California wines and brandy. Orders from responsible parties, addressed to Wm. Scheffler, or Geo. H. Beach, St. Helena, Napa county, Cal., will receive prompt attention.

PASS THIS FELLOW THE MEDAL.

[illegible] who writes to the Philadelphia Evening [illegible] is the exceptional, phenomenal, monumental and palmary romancist of all who have written about Oregon. He seems to be ambitious to tell stories that will distance competition and leave nothing for future novelists to tell. We make a few extracts:

"Off in the distance as we enter the harbor of Astoria, which is five miles from the mouth of the Columbia, we get a grand view of Mount St. Helen, one of the snow-clad peaks of the Cascades. I counted at Astoria 27 vessels lading and getting out[illegible]. They load with wheat, oats, flour, salmon, and lumber and take them off to Europe and Asia with their costly cargoes to return again for more. Portland, a city of 15,000 inhabitants and is growing by the thousands quickly. Streets of houses are being constantly erected, and there is no difficulty there. [illegible] and the [illegible] sunk down in that society. Everybody is at work. Every one is busy. [illegible] situated on the river front, running back two miles to [illegible] to the foothills of the Cascades. [illegible] sides of the Cascades are [illegible] and [illegible]. They are [illegible] no barren wastes, except here and there in the high snow [illegible] Cascades and the people [illegible] mounts town hills [illegible]. Portland is one of the terminals of the Northern Pacific railroad. There are five railways running out of the five points in Oregon and Washington territory. There are steamboat lines up the Willamette for a distance of 150 miles. We go up the Columbia river about 12 [illegible] miles, and are landed at Vancouver, a flourishing city of 5000 people. When we arrived at the Cascade Falls we were transferred from the boat to the cars and carried six miles along the shore, getting a splendid view of these falls that completely throw Niagara in the shade."

There is much more, but this will suffice to show that no future explorer can beat our "Don Carlos" [illegible] Hunchausen.

Nabob Whisky is recommended by the faculty for family and medical use. It is pure and is the best whisky on the Pacific coast for indigestion, nervousness and dyspepsia.

By looking to the wants of his customers, Mr. F. G. Abell, the photographer, can and does give thorough satisfaction. One needs but look at his large display to be convinced of this.

SUICIDE.

A distinguished Scientist once said: "No man with a strong, healthy stomach ever committed suicide, yet many suffer the torments of the damned with dyspepsia, when a single bottle of DR. MINTIE'S ENGLISH DANDELION LIVER AND DYSPEPSIA PILLS will give relief, and, if persisted in, cure the worse case of this distressing trouble. This pill cures torpid liver, biliousness, sallow complexion, foul breath, sick headache, heartburn, pain in side and back, removes pimples from the face, regulates the bowels, is sugar-coated and guaranteed purely vegetable. It acts directly on the coating of the stomach and on the liver; is suited to any climate, wet or dry weather. Beware of imitations; genuine has cut of lion on outside wrapper. Price, 50 cents. Sold by all druggists. Hodge, Davis & Co., Portland, wholesale agents.

How to Save Money.

Instead of going to a doctor, if you have Bright's Disease, Diabetes, pain in back and loins, smarting, inflammation, calculi, brick-dust deposit, or any trouble of the kidneys or bladder, buy a bottle of DR. MINTIE'S NEPHRETICUM, the great Buchu Compound. It is the best prescription ever compounded for these troubles. Abrams & Carroll, Wholesale Druggists, say: "We regard Nephreticum as the best Kidney and Bladder Remedy in the market." Woodward, druggist, Portland, Oregon, says: "Everybody speaks highly of it." Childs, druggist, Portland, says: "Sold lots of it; it always does the work." Many have been cured of obstinate kidney complaints after the doctors gave them up. Sold by all druggists. Price $1 25. Hodge, Davis & Co., Portland, Wholesale Agents.

Sir Astley Cooper's Vital Restorative.

The great English remedy—has made more cures of Nervous Debility, Seminal Weakness, Lost Manhood, nocturnal emissions, lassitude, inability for mental labor, despondency, and such diseases as are induced by youthful follies and excesses, than all other medicines combined.

It is not a stimulant nor excitant, is perfectly safe to take, is not a quack nostrum, and produces results that are wonderful.

Price, $3 a bottle. Four times the quantity, $10. Buy a bottle. It will not disappoint you. Hodge, Davis & Co., wholesale agents.

TUALATIN RIVER WATER.

OAKLAND, Cal., Nov. 17, 1879.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I noticed in one of your issues, some weeks since, a proposition to supply the city of Portland with water from the Tualatin river. Perhaps a word on the subject from one who is acquainted with the kind of water that runs in that river, may not be out of place. I have spent the greater part of my life near the Tualatin, and think my testimony is of some value.

I suppose that Portland would prefer pure water to water that is not pure. If this supposition is correct, my advice is do not get your water from the Tualatin. This river is formed by the junction of three creeks: the Dairy creek, [illegible] creek and Beary creek. Patton creek rises near Saddle Butte and [illegible] the [illegible] to Wapato lake. This lake is merely a swamp, full of stagnant water, especially in summer. Below the lake the creek is a sluggish stream, running through low marshy land. It is dammed up at the Dilley mill [illegible] and is stagnant during summer, to quite an extent. [illegible] this region again is [illegible] stream is [illegible] until it reaches the [illegible]. Below that it is sluggish. It then receives Dairy creek, which receives the overflow of Lousignont's lake, another extensive swamp, and [illegible] as stagnant and malarious as Wapato lake. This creek is very sluggish, the water of which is sufficiently green and apt to be stagnant.

In addition to these main streams, all through the winter and spring innumerable swales drain into this stream. These swales are composed entirely of surface water, and in the spring and early summer are choked with weeds and grass so as to become entirely stagnant.

The Tualatin with its tributaries, flows through rich meadow lands and during the winter months, at high water receives a vast amount of mud that is washed off from the fields. No one on the plains thinks of drinking "creek water." During summer it is malarious and in winter, during high water, any mud puddle in the street would afford as good drinking water. There is no need of speaking of the thousands of cattle and stock of all kinds that daily drink of it, or of the dead animals that are thrown into it to be out of the way.

There is another thing. If, during the next fifty years any considerable town should spring up near the Tualatin, as there may, that river would necessarily receive the sewage. To see the Tualatin as it flows into the Willamette, one might think it very good water. But knowing where it comes from, I do not think any one could think so long.

In conclusion I would say that I have no interest in the matter, except that I should be sorry to see a city full of people poisoning themselves day after day and year after year by drinking impure water, when the country is full of good water to be had for the getting.

Forewarned Forearmed.

Physicians and invalids use with confidence The Kaiser Celebrated German Elixir for Consumption and throat and lung diseases. It is rich in the medical properties of tar, wild cherry, etc. Is rendered perfectly harmless to the youngest child. This would have proved an Angel of Mercy in the household of those unhappy parents at Vallejo, Dixon, Beaver, Utah and numerous other places, whose children were slaughtered by quack medicine recommended by its owner to cure croup, possessing no properties calculated to cure it, but instead a deadly drug which has slain its thousands. Be sure you get only German Elixir. The genuine bears the Pruss an coat of arms and the fac-simile signature of Dr. Kaiser. Samples at all drug stores. Large size 75 cents.

Read and Learn for Yourself.

Many valuable discoveries and much useful knowledge is kept from the world, because of the immense expense in making them known to the people. This is not the case with BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP. Although but a few years introduced into this country, its sale now reaches in every town and village in the United States. Its wonderful success in curing consumption, severe Coughs, Pneumonia, Asthma, and all other diseases of the throat and lungs, was first made known by distributing every year, for three years, over 400,000 bottles to the afflicted, free of charge, by druggists. No such a test of merit was ever given before to any other preparation. Could you ask more? Go to your druggist and get a bottle for 75 cents and try it. Sample bottles 10 cents.

SUFFERING SETTLERS.

Some of the Beautiful Features of our Indian Policy--White People have no Rights that Indians are Bound to Respect

PRAIRIE CITY Oregon Nov 18

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Having just returned from Harney valley I have thought best as an act of justice to a misunderstood and misrepresented people to give you a brief account of the state of affairs there

Harney valley is nearly or quite a [illegible] square containing [illegible] a territory large enough for a county and capable of furnishing homes for thousands of industrious people. Silvie's river enters the valley at its northwest corner and flows along its western side at a distance of from one to five or six miles from the foot of the hills. This river is the boundary line on that side of the Malheur Indian reservation. It is a river everywhere fordable and forms no barrier to the passage of stock. The strip of land between Silvie's river and the bluffs on the west and between Malheur lake (into which the river empties) and Stein's Mountain on the south is public land to which settlers have been invited by the government with promises of care and protection. Relying upon these promises many families have settled there and engaged in stock raising that being the only branch of business adapted to the country. One settlement is on the west side of the main valley on Silvie's river. Another is in Happy valley at the foot of Stein's Mountain on the south side of Harney valley into which it opens. These people appear to be peaceable, law-abiding citizens quite as much so as those of any other community anywhere. In the summer of 1878 the Indians from the reservation with the other hostiles raided the valley and burned nearly every house in Happy valley and killed several citizens. Those who escaped were driven from their homes abandoning everything to the tender mercies of these Indians. Their houses, furniture, fences and everything combustible were burned, their horses and cattle stolen or wantonly shot and mutilated or scattered in every direction. Some of the people thus robbed and driven away have never returned, preferring to build new homes in safer localities. Those who did return have had to spend the whole summer of 1879 in rebuilding their houses and fences and preparing for winter. This throws the annual fall "rodero" or gathering of cattle for marking and branding into late fall and winter, and those people are now out trying to collect their scattered stock and drive them off the reservation to the vicinity of their own homes. It will take them till Christmas to get through, and in the meantime they are camping and hunting stock in snow and storm at the expense of a vast deal of discomfort and endangering health from such severe exposure.

The case of Mrs. Smyth is an illustration of the hardships these people have to endure. When news of the outbreak reached Happy valley, Mr Smyth his wife and three sons escaped to Fort Harney. In their haste they had taken but little bedding clothing or supplies, and they found it necessary to return to procure them; for although the Indians on their surrender were supplied with ample rations, these white refugees could obtain nothing from government either gratis or for money. Forced by circumstances, Mr Smyth and one of his sons returned home for supplies, and were murdered by the Indians and burned in their house. Mrs Smyth and her remaining sons had to get along as best they could. This year they have toiled all summer to rebuild their home, and when fall came a trip had to be made to the John Day valley for flour and vegetables. But the only grown son must attend the fall "rodaro" to look after their cattle, so Mrs Smyth was compelled to go in company with her younger son, a boy of fifteen or sixteen years of age for their supplies, requiring a journey of about one hundred and fifty miles and return, over some of the highest spurs of the Blue mountains. I met her on Tuesday, the 11th inst., camped in the snow, some forty miles on her return journey. The weather was very severe. The snow was several inches deep, and furious snow storms were constantly recurring, rendering traveling through these mountains dangerous and desperate for hardy men accustomed to such exposure. How much more so then for this delicate and feeble woman, with still more than a hundred miles to go with a loaded team, over rugged mountains and across the bleak plain of Harney valley. This lady is fifty-eight years of age, of the family of Dents, well known in the higher circles of Washington society, a lady of intelligence, an ardent supporter of schools and everything tending to civilization and refinement a good woman, in every sense of the word, made a widow and desolate, robbed by these gentle savages, these pets of the government, of husband, son and home and every comfort till, by constant toil and hardship, home and comfort are again restored. With trembling hands and swelling hearts this family, when it became safe to seek the ruins of their old home, groped among its ashes, and finding the charred bones of the loved husband and son, put them in a box and buried them in the dooryard. These bones were all of the lost ones that toil and tears could restore

Other families suffered, though none, perhaps, so severely. Their houses were burned with all their contents not taken by the Indians. Their stock was slaughtered and scattered. One hundred thousand dollars would not repay these people for the damage inflicted by the Indians in the destruction of their property, to say nothing of the loss of life. And to cap the climax several of them are now prosecuted by the agents of these Indians for pasturage of their cattle on the reservation. Even while the Indians occupied the reservation these cattle were no damage to them, for the Indians and their ponies ranged on the Malheur in the vicinity of the agency. Every man, woman and child of the Indians to whom this reservation belonged was the happy possessor of more than two thousand acres of land, more than they had any use for. A white citizen is fortunate if he and his family can secure one hundred and sixty acres by five years occupancy and cultivation. The Indians not only had no use for this grass, but the cattle were a never failing source upon which they could rely for meat when game was not readily found. Every one knows that the Indians did not go hungry for want of meat but often killed cattle when necessary and no complaint has been made about it. They took their pay for pasturage constantly. Again, a white citizen with his quarter section, every foot of which he is supposed to need, must fence out stock with a good fence whose hight and strength are laid down in the statute, but these Indians are above any such necessity. The whites must fence in their stock or herd them off the Indian's "sacred soil." Again, if a white man abandon's his claim for six months it is free spoil to whom it pleases to take. The Indians left their reservation more than a year ago and refuse to return. They will have none of its grass or its soil, its fish or its game, but remain stubbornly blind to the blandishments of government officials, and the more solid inducements of blankets and "grub" stored for their enjoyment. Although these suits require attendance at Portland, hundreds of miles from their homes, entailing great expense, yet if they could depend as they could do in a case with a white prosecutor, bringing in as an offset to the claim a counter-claim for the damage inflicted upon them by the Indians not by the trespass of their ponies, which no one cares for but by murder and robbery burning and pillage and get judgment for whatever could be proved their due they would not object seriously to these suits. But they are called upon to pay money to parties who owe them vastly more

No Indian has been hung for these murders none imprisoned or even fined a single dollar for these robberies. Their surrender disarmed all law paid every debt. White men and women and children have no rights that Indians are bound to respect. The Indians can kill half their cattle and demand pasturage for the other half

And these people must pay it or contest it in a court 200 miles away at a great expense. It is persecution and robbery let it be what it will. I will ask no questions as to who will get the money in case the Indian department gets judgment but I am [illegible] with such innocent [illegible] as to suppose the Indians will ever derive any benefit from it. But whoever it is who has inaugurated these suits, his countrymen ought to blush to have to call him a fellow [illegible] and a brother. [illegible] reservation by virtue of sacred treaty [illegible] among civilized people [illegible] contract by one party [illegible] These Indians have wilfully [illegible] treaty with the United States by making war upon them and robbing and murdering [illegible] people. Yet are they [illegible] the power of the government [illegible] to prevent the white man's cattle from cropping the grass on the reservation [illegible] the Indians have [illegible]

TUESDAY EVENING, Nov [illegible]

The [illegible] noticed in the wheat market yesterday is continued to day and though [illegible] tions have a wide range few [illegible] except at the [illegible] figure of $[illegible] at which [illegible] transactions are reported. The tendency of the market is upward and there are [illegible] that better than $[illegible] for first class [illegible] before [illegible] There are [illegible] few [illegible] ever at hand which have [illegible] their cargoes sight and this fact may in some measure operate against a continuation of the present advance. The mean quotable price to day is $[illegible] with the chances in favor of the seller for [illegible] more. The arrival of [illegible] vessels is [illegible] among them the Ian McLeod her second voyage to this port under charter to Messrs Dodge Meyer & Co

Flour in sympathy with the wheat market is firmly held and it would not be a matter of surprise if an advance should occur before the close of the week but as yet quotations have not been marked up. The demand is very good and [illegible] more and more in sellers favor

Oats are in fair supply and the trade though taking up about all received seems dull and buyers generally know where they can place them before bidding above 40c per bushel.

Bacon is not very abundant and with a fair inquiry prices are firm at 12½c per pound for sides and 14@15c for hams. Lard is steady at 11½@12½c per lb. Butter, choice roll in good demand at [illegible] the common lots in bulk dull at a figure 10@15c lower. Eggs are firm at 40c per dozen with a [illegible] upward in the market

Dried fruits are in better demand and good dried apples in kegs command as high as 8c per lb. This article has been greatly depressed for several months and responds to the more active movement in general trade very slowly. Ripe seasonable fruits are rather dull and selling at moderate rates

Hides have advanced about 1c per pound and choice dry now command as much as 17 cents

Nothing important is occurring in the wool trade, but with the continuance of the present condition of trade at the east there will be millions in the wool clip of the country another year

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES.

HAS RETURNED AFTER AN EXTENSIVE tour of the Eastern States for the past four months. The Doctor while absent visited all the principal Medical institutions in the large cities of the United States and comes back with all the modern methods instruments and appliances known to the most scientific men in the profession. The Doctor has also brought charts and manikins to illustrate his lectures.

DR PAUL M BRENAN has been fifteen years lecturing on the Laws of Life and Health. In his private and public lectures he has taught men and women the true system of life how to be healthy and happy, if they would only be guided by his wise counsel. But all cannot hear his delightful and instructive lectures nor can he tell everything necessary for suffering humanity to know from the public rostrum before a promiscuous audience. There remains much to be learned from him as his experience extends over broad fields of active professional life. This knowledge so necessary to the welfare of the sufferer can only be gleaned by private Professional Consultation at his office

His experience in the various parts of Europe and America give him such opportunities of learning the delicate diseases which the human family are prone to their mode of treatment and permanent cure as no other physician on the Pacific Coast can claim. He has not only treated these diseases most successfully but has made them a life study as a few moments consultation will prove

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA or SEMINAL WEAKNESS or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system and yet it is so [illegible] neglected by the majority of the Medical profession

IT IS TRUE

That persons who are unfortunate [illegible] be afflicted by any form of sex[illegible] case have a delicacy in calling upon [illegible] physician [illegible] time from a sense [illegible] and sometimes from ignorance [illegible] pass to exist until their constitution [illegible] ruined their organization broken [illegible] hope of future happiness blighted [illegible] comes a welcome [illegible] their miserable existence
